Introduction

The years here at North Adams State College have provided all of us with memorable moments. Favorable or not these memories will continually enrich our lives.

Academic as well as personal maturity within this college community is inevitable. We are grateful to those individuals who have created an atmosphere of encouragement for us all. These people have succeeded in nurturing our insatiable desire to broaden our spectrum for knowledge. They are responsible for triggering within us the incentive to better the world we live in. They have generously offered us many opportunities to display our talents or lack there of. Ultimately, experience having been the most valuable teacher of all has reassured us that from our successes we are able to prosper and from our failures we are able to grow.

In retrospect, from the point of view of a freshman the long road ahead seems rough and overwhelming. As seniors we have discovered that this vision was exaggerated. The truth is . . . the road was much too short.

The members of the 1982 yearbook staff would like to extend to the 1982 graduating seniors our congratulations and sincere wishes for future success.

— Selection from Leaves of Grass

That the soul of the man I speak for rejoices in comrades,
Here by myself
away from the clank
of the world,
Tallying and talk'd to
here by tongues aromatic,
No longer abash'd,
(for in this secluded spot
I can respond
as I would not dare elsewhere,) Strong upon me
the life that does not exhibit itself,
yet contains all the rest

— Walt Whitman

Dedication

Leon Peters is the unsung hero selected for this year's dedication. He may remain anonymous to some people on this campus because of the nature of his job but the products of his dedicated labor are focal points of many a bulletin board. It is felt by many that the acknowledgement of this man is well deserved but long overdue.

Leon's talent as a graphic artist is incomparable. The matchless asthetic value of the posters he designs cause their frequent removal from their intended locations most often reaching a destination of a pleasant nature. They can be seen gracing the walls of many student living quarters. Leon knows that this problem can not easily be resolved but he modestly explains that he considers this action to be a compliment.

Mr. Peters has been here for almost twelve years. His widespread fame on this campus is not solely a result of his artistic achievements. Leon has possession of a personality that is comparable to the beauty of his art work. Anyone fortunate enough to have made his acquaintance is witness to the limitless warmth that radiates from this man and consequently many people seek his friendship.

In a conversation with Leon dealing with the length of time he has been here at North Adams State College he humorously mentioned that there has not yet been a building on this campus named after him. Well . . . there may never be a building great enough to deserve the flattery of your name but nevertheless we feel lucky to have met you Leon Peters.

A "ceremonial cutting of recording tape", took place on Feb. 8th at WJJW to commemorate the day the station officially went from a small college radio to "The New Music Authority" in Berkshire County. Rich Pothier cut the tape before an audience of 15 people, including staff members and other Campus Center employees who came to join the celebration, and enjoy some free donuts and coffee. Paul Willy, technical engineer, who had spent many hours of his time connecting the transmitter and checking for "bugs" was also there.

The Year in Review

Memorable athletic performances highlight every academic year at North Adams State and 1981-82 was no exception. Thirteen teams representing twelve sports competed in four conferences while over half of the Mohawk squads experienced winning campaigns.

The Men's Ice Hockey team captured the hearts of the college community when it defeated Rochester Tech and Williams at home in the ECAC Playoffs, a first in the school's history. The Men's Tennis team continued its dominance on the court winning its second consecutive Massachusetts State College Athletic Conference crown by going undefeated. The top Women's team was in volleyball. The Mohawk Spikers, without much attention, qualified for their first ever post season tourney appearance after winning a record ten matches during the regular season.

The Men's Soccer team, although recording its eleventh consecutive winning season, was not selected for tournament competition. The Men's Cross Country, Basketball, Baseball and Golf teams won more than they lost while placing high in their respective leagues. The Coed Alpine Ski Team, during its first year of varsity competition, proved its worth by placing first on numerous occasions. Youth and inexperience hampered the Women's Field Hockey, Tennis, Basketball and Softball teams from achieving winning seasons.

Whether it was winning or losing, the athletes who participated on Mohawk teams during the 1981-82 year continued the tradition of demonstrating quality sportsmanship and dedication while wearing the Blue and Gold of NASC.
